

ABSTRACT

Coded data for disposal on or in an interface surface associated with a product item, wherein the coded data includes a plurality of coded data portions disposed on or in the interface surface, and wherein each coded data portion is indicative of an identity of the product item such 5 that sensing any one of the coded data portions allows the identity of the product item to be determined.